To whom it may concern,

I have had the pleasure of working with our local Prevention Management Coordinator, Ranae Pape, for over a year now. With her encouragement and support, we have implemented several new programs together for our community.

As a law enforcement professional, I often only get to see the enforcement side of the law, so it is a breath of fresh air to be able to work on prevention issues within Sublette County. With Ms. Pape's assistance, we have implemented a tobacco-free policy for the deputy's patrol vehicles, handed out free gun locks to our community members, every deputy has undergone QPR training to be better equipped when encountering a potentially suicidal subject, and we have been working closely on improving the Title 25 guidelines within our community. All of these programs would not have come to my attention without the assistance of Ms. Pape.

Her work within our community has been instrumental in taking steps to prevent alcohol, tobacco and drug abuse, and to help assist with suicide prevention. With so much of my work focused on law enforcement, having an outside perspective of some of the issues and needs our community has is paramount. The Prevention Management program across the state helps bridge the gap created between prevention and enforcement and is invaluable to our community.

Thank you,

Stephen R. Haskell
